

The aunt states she does not have court assigned guardianship at this time. She reports that she just took over the care of the patient because the mother was just arrested and jailed 2 days ago. She is still trying to understand what she legally needs to do since all this just happened a few days ago. The patient's father has never been involved in her life so he cannot give consent.